

Base station 48 lithium battery

What is a 48V lead-acid battery?

Many customers and applications have long used 48V lead-acid batteries, so maintaining this naming convention helps with easier understanding and compatibility. Technically, the battery's nominal voltage is 51.2V, reflecting the true voltage output of lithium iron phosphate (LiFePO₄) cells, which operate at 3.2V per cell.

What is a 48V LiFePO₄ battery?

Our 51.2V LiFePO₄ battery is commonly called a "48V" battery to align with standard terminology in the industry. Many customers and applications have long used 48V lead-acid batteries, so maintaining this naming convention helps with easier understanding and compatibility.

How do you charge a lithium battery?

There are 2 ways to solve the problem: using an AC-DC lithium battery charger or an MPPT solar charge controller to charge it for 3 to 10 seconds, then the battery can be used normally. If you plan to store the battery for a long time, charge it to a SOC of 50% and perform maintenance every three months.
