What is a 50Hz inverter?

Its purpose is to boost the input voltage and generate a 50Hz (default) pure sine wave output with high accuracy and minimal harmonic distortion. This is achieved with the assistance of an external 12MHz crystal oscillator. The output voltage of the inverter circuit can be adjusted to 220V AC using the trimmer (POT1).

What can a power inverter do?

You can use this inverter to power household appliances up to 1000 watts during emergency situations when electricity is not available. It can also be highly useful for camping and outdoor work where electricity is unavailable, and you need to operate tools like drills, grinders, soldering equipment, and more. Let's make it!

How to adjust the output voltage of the inverter circuit?

This is achieved with the assistance of an external 12MHz crystal oscillator. The output voltage of the inverter circuit can be adjusted to 220V AC using the trimmer (POT1). The driver board continuously measures the output load current through IFB pin for overcurrent protection detection.

What is EGS002 SPWM based inverter circuit?

The working principle of the EGS002 SPWM based inverter circuit is simple. The inverter circuit includes voltage, current, and temperature protection mechanisms, LED warning indicators, and fan control. The main component of this inverter circuit is the EGS002 driver board, specifically designed for a single-phase sinusoidal inverter.
