

Do German inverter manufacturers have a large market share?

Although German inverter manufacturers such as SMA and Kostal face increasing pressure from major Chinese suppliers, they have managed to retain a large market share in the small-plant segment.

How to enter the inverter market?

To enter the inverter market, start by understanding its structure. It is known to be more strictly organized and therefore far less volatile. Nearly all of the manufacturers lowered their prices in the first half of this year and issued new price lists.

What happened to inverter prices in the first half of this year?

In the first half of this year, nearly all of the manufacturers lowered their prices and issued new price lists. We should start by taking a brief foray into the inverter market, which is known to be more strictly organized and therefore far less volatile.

What happened to inverters and PV modules?

Since 24 October 2015, both inverters and PV modules have been subject to a new regime. The transitional period for the registration of all brands and products ended on 1 February. What this means for individual stakeholders is difficult to predict.

Is PV power the cheapest source of electricity in Chile?

Officials in Chile have now confirmed that PV power is the cheapest source of electricity in the country. As such, the country is promoting efforts to decommission fossil fuel based power plants and break its dependence on energy imports by building ever more PV systems and not strangling the market.

Why did inverters sell out quickly in June-July?

In June-July, most inverters in the 5 to 25 kW range sold out very quickly. This sudden increase in demand caught established inverter manufacturers off guard, leading to delivery delays of several weeks or even months in the PV industry.
